LANGHORNE MAN TAKES HIS LIFE IN A MILL RACE

Norwood H. Tomlinson, 57, Commits Suicide, After Mailing Letter

HIS WIFE WAS IN OHIO
Officers Locate Body Short Time After Message Is Discovered

LANGHORNE, Dec. 2.—Norwood H. Tomlinson, 57, who ended his life yesterday by drowning in a mill race at Bridgetown, had planned for the deed by mailing a letter to the local undertaker telling where his body would be found and requesting the said undertaker to care for the funeral.

Tomlinson, a former advertising manager of the Pittsburgh Press, is believed to have taken his life because of financial worries. His wife, Mary Griffin Tomlinson, who had been visiting in Cleveland, Ohio, was immediately notified of her husband's death.

Calls to state police, Trooper Brace, and Hulmeville Constable Orville Morris, informed them at noon of the note which had been mailed by Tomlinson. The officers immediately went to the mill race at Bridgetown and located the body.

Bucks County Coroner, Dr. John J. Sweeney, was notified, and the body removed to a local morgue.

Tomlinson, a native of Langhorne, was a member of a prominent Bucks County family. He is survived by his wife; two sisters, and four brothers. He was a brother of justice of the peace Fred Tomlinson, with whom the deceased and his wife made their home.

"Spanish" Program Is Given At Travel Club Session

Travel Club members heard an enjoyable program at their club home, yesterday afternoon, the theme being Spain.

Three of the club women told of experiences while traveling in Spain, and Spanish selections were sung by a member of Langhorne Sorosis.

The program was directed by Mrs. Joseph B. Smith and Miss Elizabeth Runyan, both of whom have enjoyed jaunts through that European country.

Miss Runyan read a pleasing paper dealing with Spain, where she enjoyed a visit during a Mediterranean cruise. Mrs. Smith, who with her daughter, Miss Marian Smith, spent one month in Spain, travelling from place to place by automobile, displayed three Spanish shawls which were embroidered on net. Mrs. Smith, who witnessed the making of such shawls, described the method employed. The beautiful cathedrals were referred to, as well as scenic spots of that country. Miss Smith then described a bull fight which she attended.

Spanish solos were sung by Mrs. Arthur Hagar, Langhorne, former president of Bucks County Federation of Women's Clubs, her accompanist being Miss Jackson, a member of Langhorne Junior Sorosis.

The hostesses were: Mrs. Ernest Lawrence and Mrs. Serrill Douglass. Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the afternoon.

Mrs. Horace H. Burton, president, presided at the business session which preceded the program. A short period of silence was observed in memory of Mrs. Charles H. Ancker, Sr., a member of the club, who died last week.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS DEFEATED BY HIBERNIANS

Lose the Game to Old-Time Rivals by Score of 37 to 29

A CLOSELY-FOUGHT TILT

(By T. M. Juno)

The Knights of Columbus were handed their first defeat of the Bristol Basketball League last night on the Italian Mutual Aid floor, losing to their arch-rivals, the Hibernians, 37-29. It was the second straight win for the Dolanmen.

The Casey, in losing to the Big Green, put up a game battle which was decided in the last four minutes of playing. Up until then the Knights and Hibs waged a see-saw battle with either team holding more than a three-point lead throughout. Several times the lead changed hands and it was not until late in the game that the Hibs broke loose to take a commanding lead.

With four minutes left to play, the Radcliffe street boys were trailing, 27-24. Morrissey took a side shot and the sphere dropped through the net for a goal. Referee Baetzel also detected Dougherty hooking on the play and Morrissey sank in the foul to deadlock the score.

However, the score remained tied for but a short while before Saskowitz and Roe hit the cords with double-deckers to give the Hibs a short lead. Joie Roe and Eddie Roe also added field goals in the waning moments left to play.

"Jackie" Saskowitz was the star performer for the winners, sinking in three field goals from long range and also adding four free shots. Roe had eleven points to his credit.

For the losers, "Lewie" Parker was high scorer with ten points, four of these coming from the foul mark. "Angie" McCafferty kept the Knights in the game with three circus shot field goals.

The officiating of Referee Herman Baetzel was highly commended by the players and a clean game was played throughout.

ARREST TWO MEN IN THEFTS FROM FACTORY

One Hundred Dozen Shirts Reported Missing At Quakertown

BOTH CONFESS GUILT

QUAKERTOWN, Dec. 2.—A watchman and his step-son-in-law admitted to the authorities early today they stole 100 dozens of shirts from a shirt factory here, sold the merchandise and kept the money.

Two weeks ago the shirt factory of Hyman Fishman, here, discovered that 100 dozens of shirts were missing. The shirts were valued at about $1 each.

State Trooper Sauer and County Detective Anthony Russo were called to investigate the case yesterday. After making a preliminary probe of the affair the authorities decided to question Robert Grubbe, 711 West Broad street, employed as a watchman at the plant. After considerable questioning Grubbe confessed, according to the authorities. In his confession he said to have implicated his step-son-in-law, Joseph Calabro, 318 Price street, Germantown, Philadelphia.

The officers called Calabro to the telephone at his home in Philadelphia and representing themselves as Grubbe arranged with him to come here for more shirts. Calabro arrived at the Fishman factory at 12:45 this morning. He entered through a rear door and was confronted by the police. After questioning he confessed.

Both men were taken to Doylestown and they will be given a hearing today before a Justice of Peace here.

"Smooth-Tongued" Woman Fleeces Salvatore Pugliese, Is Claim

KEPT "CURE" SECRET

Bag Which Supposedly Contained Money for Cure, Stuffed With Paper

A "smooth-tongued" woman, apparently has successfully victimized an Italian family of 1953. The woman pretended, according to the information given to the police last night, that she was a "Doctor of Witchcraft," and could take the "bad eye" off the man of the household which she claimed was causing him to suffer with rheumatism. Whether or not the woman removed the "bad eye" has not been definitely determined, but it is an established fact that the $1953 was removed.

The victim of the "bad eye" and "Witchcraft Doctor," is the family of Salvatore Pugliese, 322 Dorraffee street. They reported the loss of the money to the police last night, and unfolded a story almost beyond belief. According to the information given the police, an unidentified woman visited the Pugliese family on November 23rd. She told them that she had learned in a local grocery store that Salvatore Pugliese, the husband and father, was a great sufferer of rheumatism. She attributed this suffering to the fact that someone had put the "bad eye" on Salvatore. Then, according to the Pugliese family, the woman stated that she was a "Doctor of Witchcraft" and that she could cure Salvatore of his rheumatism, but that it would be necessary to have $25.00 with which to perfect the cure. She was not going to charge anything for her services, except that in case of a cure the Puglieses were to give her a nice new dress.

The Puglieses went to Bristol post office and withdrew $500 in $1 bills. They did this in order to prove to the "doctor" that they had the money. She told them that she would return in a few days and for them to have the balance of the money. The "doctor" paid her second visit on November 27th, and on this occasion the Pugliese family withdrew $1300 from the Post Savings account, and this sum added to the $500 previously drawn, and $1300 which the family had in the house made up the total of $2800 required.

The "doctor" described her method to the family and with the $2800 lying on the table Mrs. Provvedenza Pugliese, wife of the rheumatic sufferer, was sent into another room, to get a clean white rag, needle and thread. Mrs. Pugliese returned with the articles and was again requested by the doctor to leave the room and get some salt, vinegar and garlic, while she, the "doctor" would sew the money into a bag which was to be placed between the shoulders of Mr. Pugliese. When Mrs. Pugliese returned to the room with the requested articles, salt, vinegar, and garlic, the "doctor" had a neatly sewed bag which was sprinkled with the salt, vinegar and garlic and placed between the shoulders of Mr. Pugliese, who had been waiting in another room.

The instructions were to keep the bag in place for nine days and not to mention it to a soul. The "doctor" went through a lot of "pow-wow" maneuvers and thus started a spell to counteract the "bad eye." So much faith did the Puglieses have in the "doctor" that they did not reveal the transaction to a single soul until yesterday. The bag was removed and one end ripped open. All that the Puglieses found were some crumpled newspaper. They then went to the police and consulted Chief Jones and Superintendent McGee. In opening the bag further the police found forty-seven $1 bills. The story was then related in detail to the authorities.

WHO ARE CREDITORS?

If the advocates of inflation have their way, the wise and prudent creditors will pay for the mistakes of the reckless borrowers and reckless lenders. All creditors would be penalized to help out a small class of debtors.

Inflationists insist that there are about 20,000,000 debtors in this country and merely a handful of creditors of which the principal ones are men such as J. P. Morgan and John D. Rockefeller. They appeal to the ignorant with assertions that the mass of the people would receive the benefit of inflation at the expense of the few who, they say, are well able to stand the loss.

Nothing is further from the truth. In fact, there are about three creditors to one debtor and that many persons at the same time are both debtors and creditors.

All persons with savings accounts are listed among the creditors. It is estimated that almost 40,000,000 people have savings accounts. Added to these is another 40,000,000 persons who have checking accounts who also would be listed among the creditors.

The largest group of creditors is composed of the holders of life insurance policies. These probably number about 60,000,000 persons. There also are many hundreds of thousands who have made loans to individuals or who hold government or other bonds or mortgages. Even if the same persons are listed in several of these categories there still would remain about 65,000,000 creditors.

The number of the individual debtors is small. Only about 3,000,000 owners have mortgages on their farms and it is estimated that probably 10,000,000 owners have mortgages on urban real estate. Most of the big debtors are corporations.

The large creditor class would suffer if the country resorts to inflation. Bank deposits, mortgages, insurance policies, bonds, both government or corporation, are payable in the currency of the moment and the amount is fixed in dollars.

The advocates of inflation have a reply for this argument. They declare that failure to inflate means that many debtors, including large corporations, would become bankrupt and that the creditors would lose all their debts while if inflation comes they, at least, will save about 50 cents on the dollar.

Admitting that many debtors are facing bankruptcy, if world conditions improve and there is not too much tinkering with the currency many of these debtors who now are unable to pay would become able to do so and again would become solvent.

Even if there is no improvement which would permit debtors to pay then it would be better for the country as a whole to permit the liquidation of the unsound debtors and it would be much fairer for this to happen than to permit losses by those who have conducted their businesses wisely and who have trusted, possibly their life savings, to banks and insurance companies.

Poverty has its merits. The poor are in no danger of being robbed, kidnapped or sent to the Senate.

The discovery by scientists that Virginia was inhabited 2,000 years ago will prove a blow to the First Families.

CONFIDENCE

(Morrisville Herald)

The child who stands upon an eminence and fearlessly leaps into his dad's arms at the command to "jump" has implicit confidence in that dad. Not a minute of hesitation or questioning, not a fear nor a worry about the effect of his leap. This picture illustrates confidence as applied to every phase of living. Disturb it or shatter it, and fear and distrust enter in.

An engineer, in building a Dam or a Bridge, seeks bedrock for his foundation. He may never have built a bridge or a dam before, but he knows the experience of those which have built before him. The history of failure of structures teaches him that there are certain fundamental principles which he dare not ignore. He knows that he dare not incorporate some strange or fanciful idea.

The life insurance expert is guided in his business entirely by the law of averages of life and, striking these averages under various conditions in living, fixes a rate. He dare not otherwise speculate.

Business, industry, and banking likewise depend upon certain fundamental principles for their success, and when they turn to other ideas, fantastic or new, ruin often follows. In every trade and profession, there is a scale or measure of some standard to go by. This standard remains constant and, in our complex civilization, a standard has been established for exchange between the various tradesmen and professions. This standard we call money. It is the substitute which a man receives in place of a swap of shoes or meats or clothing in exchange for services rendered.

The President of the United States in his "New Deal" throws away this standard and says that he wants a commodity dollar, and in his "New Deal" fantastically changes the value of this old established standard day by day. What chaos would result if the President changed the carpenter rule from day to day, or the engineer's standard at various times, or the measure of a basket of produce, or weight of a dairy product, under the excuse that it was a commodity rule. The commodity dollar might be alright if the United States was entirely self contained and had no foreign trade or intercourse of any nature. The carpenters of Morrisville might have a commodity length fixed by which they would cut their lumber to build houses in this community, and this would be perfectly reasonable if this measure were taken out into the woods to cut the timber and delivered directly to the job. But, when these carpenters depend upon timber to come from some other place with another measure, their trouble begins.

The thing which this country needs is to get away from these fantasticisms and back to fundamentals. The rules of living as applied to the human body are inexorable and when defied and broken spell sickness and death. The rules of economics governing social intercourse, through thousands of years of experience, bear certain fundamental relationships which cannot be ignored. Inequalities and injustice, in the exposure of unscrupulous individuals, do give opportunity for improvements in our living. But to trifle with human misery with all sorts of new deals, unwilling to admit that certain sound and fundamental principles are imperatively necessary to be followed for recovery, we find ourselves subject to a conception strictly psychological, wherein we would believe that we are not sick or that we are not hurt, and that it's all a state of mind.

Confidence cannot be restored by the ballyhoo of the present administration. Mass psychology is good, but it is also dangerous when the masses do not secure what they are promised. The American workman needs an honest dollar, he needs protection, and with proper protection and a dollar that shall be the same yesterday, today, and tomorrow, confidence will be restored and commodities themselves will seek their natural level, while the dollar should remain a constant standard of measure.

The government plan of pouring billions of dollars as a stop gap into public work, in the theory that it will create an impetus to trade and so stir the wheels of industry is fundamentally unsound. The Citizens Conservation Corps is an illustration. The purpose of this organization was to put young men to work in forest preserves for conservation and reforestation. Millions of feet of lumber have been cut to build cantonments destroying more timber than creating new. All of this vast expenditure is taxing the next generation and instead of fixing the foundations for the building of new wealth, rather as in war, it is burning up, consuming wealth and all because of unsound and untried theories.

The Community Paper and Your Indebtedness To It!

The value of a newspaper to the community in which it circulates is inestimable.

This statement may on the surface appear to be one of bragadocio, but if carefully analyzed by the thoughtful individual, it will prove true.

A community newspaper is continually giving valuable service and support to every activity in the area in which it circulates. It gives publicity to the activities of organizations of a religious, civic, fraternal, social and patriotic nature. This publicity is not charged for, but is given gratuitously and oftentimes but little appreciated. Those benefiting therefrom, in a thoughtless manner, take it for granted that the publicity given is news, when many, many times it is nothing more than free advertising for the various organizations.

Column after column of free publicity for churches, schools, lodges, women's organizations, civic movements, and legitimately established merchants, informing the public that they have taken on a new line of merchandise or in some manner are endeavoring to better cater to the wants of their patrons, are given in every newspaper published today. The publishers of a newspaper do not expect to be paid for such items, and no charge is ever made therefor. Those receiving the benefits of this publicity, however, can and oftentimes do reciprocate in various ways.

The average community newspaper today has three sources of revenue upon which it depends for sustenance: its paid subscription list; the income received from advertising; and the revenue which is derived from its commercial printing department which is a valuable adjunct to practically every community newspaper.

The merchants use the paid advertising columns of the publication, and thereby recompense the publisher. Churches, schools, lodges, women's organizations, and those sponsoring civic movements, can pay their indebtedness to the publication for the free space given by placing orders for whatever commercial printing they may need, thereby showing their gratitude for the aid rendered by the publication.

Those who are interested in the community in which they reside or in which they have formerly resided contribute their share to the community paper by subscribing therefor.

Unless adequate support is received by community publications as herein set forth, the publication cannot prosper and render adequate service to any community.

Are you as an individual or organization doing your part in supporting your community newspaper? Are you using its paid advertising columns; subscribing for the publication; or patronizing its third source of revenue—commercial printing department?

As an individual you can do your part by making it your personal business to see that the publication which supports your organization is subscribed for; or when paid advertising is to be placed, that it is placed in the publication which has been generous in granting the free use of its columns; or by having your commercial printing done by the organization sponsoring the publication.

REPEAL FERVOR DULL

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. — (INS) — Albuquerque voters, who returned a five-to-one majority favoring repeal of state and national prohibition, greeted the legal advent of beer and drug-store whiskey with little enthusiasm. During the first two days beer was legal only two applications for beer buyers permits were received by the city clerk's office. Druggists reported few sales of medicinal whiskey, due to the high prices.

HARRISBURG — (INS) — Romance and a faulty automobile tire conspired to involve Kletus F. Arndt, 18, in legal entanglements and a charge of larceny.

While driving to the home of the new girl a tire on Arndt's automobile blew out. Determined not to miss the date, he removed a tire from the car of Charles McClurg, parked in a vacant lot, and attached it on his machine, authorities charge.

SUNDAY DINNER SUGGESTIONS

By ANN PAGE

The days following Thanksgiving mean a let down of effort to the housewife. Simple fare after feasting is best for digestions and for purses. Friday's fish is a welcome change and the variety is great, considering that fishing weather has been bad. Oysters are especially attractive just now.

Many people like to have cold sliced turkey for their Sunday dinner. Since it is wise to buy a large turkey, as it carries more meat in proportion to bone than a smaller one, there should be plenty left. Some people, however, prefer turkey sandwiches or a salad of diced turkey, celery, chopped olives and salad dressing for the Sunday night supper.

There is no change in the fruits and vegetables available though prices and quantities may vary slightly. Green peas are somewhat cheaper after a long period of high prices.

The Quaker Maid suggests the following after-Thanksgiving menus:

Low Cost Dinner

Braised Beef Balls Baked Potatoes
Cottage Pudding Green Beans
Cottage Pudding Chocolate Sauce
Tea or Coffee Milk

Medium Cost Dinner

Cold Turkey, Hot Dressing and Gravy
Mashed Potatoes Brussels Sprouts
Cranberry Sauce
Rolls and Butter
Mince Pie Milk

Very Special Dinner

Celery Consonme Olives
Cold Turkey, Hot Dressing and Gravy
Candied Sweet Potatoes
Buttered Broccoli Cranberry Sauce
Tomato Salad Salad Dressing
Mince Pie Cheese
Coffee Milk

HOLLYWOOD

The mystery of Ann Harding's latest disappearance from Hollywood—until a few days ago, not even the studio knew where she was—has been solved. The blonde star was up in Carmel devoting herself to her old love, the Little Theater.

This picture, a quiet coast town, long a favorite with artists and writers, probably will see Ann behind the footlights, within the next few weeks. The star will go back to help with the production of A. A. Milne's "Mr. Pim Passes By" and is willing to take a part if they want her to. Moreover, she intends to permanently identify herself with the Little Theater in Carmel.

All of which will be bad news to the Hedgerow Players, in Rose Valley, Pennsylvania, where the actress usually returns once a year to work under her old director.

The star is going around these days with her ankle tightly wrapped with bandages. As an arduous post-child, she was kicked by a horse and still suffers recurring trouble from the bruised ligaments.

As James Dunn tells it, an actor friend failed to keep an appointment at the studio for gallery photographs. That afternoon an executive called the player's wife.

She listened for a moment, then snapped: "You're squawking just because he didn't show up for pictures. What I want to know is why he didn't show up for breakfast!"

Lupe Velez has been seeing that Johnny Weissmuller stays home nights by the simple expedient of talking to him for hours on the telephone. But what Lupe doesn't know is that there is only one line going into the little town of Cameron, Arizona, and that her conversations with her "Darling Johnny" have been overheard by most of the population.

The little girl Bert Wheeler has been spending long hours teaching to tap-dance and to clog is his own five-year-old daughter, Patsy. She's a pretty child with long curls and you can look to see her in an early Wheeler-Woolsey comedy for RKO. Patsy's mother has been separated from Bert for a long time but they are not divorced.

Working on the next stage at Al Jolson at Warner Brothers is Ruby Keeler's first beau. He is William Janney, screen juvenile, who used to take Ruby out when they both went to the Professional Children's School in New York City. Billy was in the first year high school then and Ruby was in the eighth grade.

QUICK GLIMPSES:

If Lee Tracy's Hollywood troubles don't straighten out, the actor can have one of a dozen Broadway plays. And although Isabel Jewel has just been signed to a contract by M.G.M., my guess is she would check her opportunity and go to New York with "Peck's Bad Boy" of the movies.

Dorothy Lee and Marshall Duffield are going to Salt Lake City for three reasons: because Dorothy has a personal appearance offer; because the trip will be a belated honeymoon; and because Marshall's people live there.

Short story: Monty Westmore had an argument with Josef von Sternberg over one of Marlene Dietrich's wigs. Monty no longer works for Paramount. Surprising how many remedies there are for whooping cough. Since my story that Baby Le Roy had been exposed to the disease, Paramount has received more than 50 letters from local mothers, and now a Chicago medicated air machine company wants to hire and airplane and fly out free of charge. Fortunately, Baby Le Roy hasn't coughed yet.

HAWKS FAIL TO STOP PAPER MAKERS' MARCH

The Hawks made a great effort to overcome the large lead made by the Paterson Parchment Paper Company five in the second game of the evening but time was too short as the Paper Makers romped home with a 35-31 victory.

The Paterson team scored seven points before the Hawks could put in a shot and at the end of the first quarter, the boys from the Paper Mill had an 8-1 edge. With Dorsey and Dugan put into the game the second quarter things looked different, although the Paterson team rolled in enough points to get a 24-12 lead at half-time.

Putting forth their best efforts in the third period, the boys of Harry Jenks with Johnny Cole leading the attack shaved down the lead of the Paterson team by six points. "Big Ike" Kovalick found the range of the basket in the last period and his two long shots and four fouls by Vinny Sawicki sawed up the game.

It was the shooting of Danny Hines that put the Paper Makers into the game in the first half. Hines scored nine points during this milling while Kovalick counted three double-deckers. For the losers, "Ed" Dugan scored ten points and had a perfect record for fouls, making six out of six. Sawicki made eight out of nine for the winners.

On Monday night the Y. M. A. will meet the Odd Fellows and the Third Ward plays the Knights of Columbus.

FORTY COMPANIES CONTINUALLY TRY TO OFFSET FIRES

In Spite of Fine Work, Fire Losses Have Been Mounting

MEMBERSHIP OF 2,000

Some Companies Quite Old; Wm. Penn. Hulmeville, A Pioneer

A recent survey shows there are at least 40 volunteer fire companies throughout Bucks County continually striving to keep down the fire losses. During the course of a year in this so-called age of incendiaryism barely a week passes that one of the 40 or more companies located in almost as many communities, are not called into action. In spite of the excellent work of the firemen the fire losses during the past few years have been mounting. Many of these losses are the direct result of fire bugs, a number of whom have been apprehended, convicted and placed in penal institutions.

The 40 volunteer fire companies have an approximate membership of 2,000 active firemen. At the disposal of the various communities in the county are at least 125 pieces of apparatus. Some of the smaller and more recently organized companies have but one piece of apparatus, while in some of the larger towns each company has at least three pieces.

These forty or more companies are affiliated with the Bucks County Firemen's Association which meets quarterly for the purpose of discussing matters of importance among the firemen.

Fire companies in Bucks County have been in existence for many years. One of the oldest of them is the William Penn at Hulmeville. This pioneer company has in its possession an old hand pump which was pressed in service when the company was in its early stages. One of the companies in Quakertown and another in Sellersville are said also to be the possessors of old hand-pumps. Another old piece of fire apparatus is the old hose cart which has been in the possession of the Doylestown Fire Company for many years.

Motorization of equipment during the past two decades has meant much in the development of the efficiency of the fire companies. No longer is it possible to find horse-drawn apparatus. All equipment has become motorized.

orized This means that not only are the firemen enabled to make quicker runs to the scenes of the fire, but that the pumping of water is done by the powerful motors installed in the equipment.

Another very valuable asset to the county is its fire marshal, William L. Stackhouse, who for the past few years has been conducting investigations and quite frequently bringing about the arrests of persons responsible for the fires. The fire chief of every volunteer fire company, immediately after every fire reports it to Fire Marshal Stackhouse, when there is a suspicion of incendiaryism. Stackhouse begins an investigation and in this he is often assisted by the chiefs of the volunteer companies or one of the ten district chiefs.

Officers of the Bucks County Firemen's Association include the following: President, James E. Groome; Yardley; vice presidents, Thomas B. Stockham, Morrisville; Lloyd Y. Crouthamel, Dublin; and Raymond Strunk, Quakertown; secretary, H. Clinton Reiff, Silverdale; treasurer, Louis C. Leedom, Yardley; and financial secretary, William Stauffer, Sellersville.

Assistant fire marshals throughout the county are as follows: First district, Victor Smith; second district, Lloyd Crouthamel; third district, William Britton; fourth district, Abel Patterson; fifth district, Aubrey Merrick; sixth district, Bernard Stradling; seventh district, Melvin Severns; eighth district, Cleveland Reed. There are also two other districts, the ninth and tenth.

A number of volunteer fire companies have been organized throughout the county in recent years. Among the more recent of these is the Midway Volunteer Fire Company located at Lahaska. One of the projects sponsored by this company has been a survey of the area protected. This survey is being made for the purpose of locating available sources of water to be used in fighting fires.

Among the other more lately organized companies are those at Plumsteadville, Hartsville, Warrington township, Warminster township and Treves.

One of the problems of the volunteer companies has been that of raising funds for the upkeep of the apparatus. One of the most successful methods has been by the holding of carnivals. In some localities several carnivals are held each summer.

Morrisville, Yardley and Quakertown each have two fire companies and Bristol has four or five, including the more recently organized Bristol Consolidated Department, of which James L. McGee is the chief.

A list of the fire companies and their chiefs follows: Quakertown, Raymond Strunk; Richlandtown,

Harry P. Kline; Trumbauersville, William Rose; Dublin, Lloyd Y. Crouthamel; Perkasie, William O. Texter; Sellersville, William Taylor; Silverdale, Harvey S. NEWS BRIEFS

LEWISTOWN — (INS) — Democratic forces of Mifflin County are boosting Roland S. Morris, Philadelphia, Ambassador to Japan under President Wilson, as their party's standard bearer next year for the Governorship.

Morris' nomination was advocated by Meredith Meyers, editor of the Lewistown Sentinel and twice his party's candidate for Congress in the 18th District.

In an article appearing recently in his publication, Meyers, a former treasurer of the Democratic State Committee, asserted that his party has in Morris "A man big enough not only automatically to command the support of every faction of this State's Democracy, but who would receive the votes of many thousands of Independent Republicans sincerely believing there should be a thorough house-cleaning at Harrisburg."

THE 10:13 and the 4:25

THE 10:13 is distinctly feminine. Cars full of well-dressed, vivacious ladies. There is quiet but eager talk of babies and bridge—of parties and servants. But, more particularly of shirts and shoes, of rompers and rugs. . . Above all, of prices and values.

But watch the 4:25, when the ladies are homeward bound. Some are worn and weary—and quiet. Others are still vivacious and gay.

Had you trailed the tired ladies, as they were shopping, you doubtless would have seen them wandering from store to store, from counter to counter, asking, searching, pricing—hour after hour.

Had you followed the ladies who again are talking babies and bridge, dinners and parties—you would have seen them consulting lists—going directly to this store, to that department, to this counter, readily finding just what they wanted at the price they intended to pay.

Before leaving home they read the advertisements in their newspapers, made notes, clipped certain ads, laid plans.

To save time and money and effort, shop at home first in the pages of this newspaper.

Can Schmeling Come Back?

By BURNLEY

How WILL THE BAER KAYO AFFECT SCHMELING IN HIS PROSPECTIVE COMEBACK?

SCHMELING EXPECTS TO MEET BAER AGAIN EARLY NEXT YEAR.

FORMER HEAVY CHAMP WHO STILL HOPES TO WIN BACK HIS OLD TITLE!

WHEN Joe Jacobs came back from Germany a few weeks ago, he announced that Max Schmeling was due to return to ring warfare next January. The former heavyweight champion watched the Carnera-Paulino fight from a ringside chair, and according to Jacobs, "Moxie" was positive that he could have knocked out both the giant Italian and the ancient Basque.

Schmeling was so unimpressed with Carnera's showing, says Joe, that he immediately began to lay plans for his attempted comeback. Herr Schmeling is scheduled to arrive in this country shortly after the first of the year, and will box a suitable opponent in New York or Chicago sometime in January. If victorious in the tune-up battle, the Berlin Bomber expects to battle his former conqueror, Max Baer, in a return bout to be held in California next February.

Jacobs seems to be confident that Schmeling will be able to reverse the issue in his second battle with Baer.

"Schmeling was badly out of condition for the last fight with Baer," argues the Teuton's pilot. "And even at that, he was licking the Californian until the finish. Schmeling couldn't lift his arms after the first six rounds, and he would have fallen from exhaustion, even if Baer hadn't hit him."

And Jacobs prophesies that Teuton will be in condition for the return battle.

However, it will be interesting to see just what effect the Baer kayo will have upon Schmeling in his forthcoming bouts. If you remember, not so long ago Jack Sharkey tried a comeback after being belted out by Carnera, with disastrous results. The kayo at the hands of the giant Venetian seemed to have taken all the starch out of the Boston Gob, and he was licked by both Levinsky and Loughran.

Particularly noticeable was the evidence that Sharkey's chin was much weaker after the Carnera knockout. He was knocked down by Levinsky and even the light tapping Loughran sent him to his knees.

Will the Baer knockout affect Schmeling in a similar manner?
